Guide for Caregivers at Camp Dogwood

This document is designed to give you, as a caregiver, an idea of what is expected of you if you accompany a camper to Camp Dogwood. Please read over this document, to help insure everyone has the best time possible at camp.

If you have any questions, please contact Camp office at Camp Dogwood, at 828-478-2135 ext. 230.

It is recommended that you go over this sheet as well as the rules and regulations with the camper you will be assisting.

A caregiver's role here at camp is an important one. In many instances when a camper needs a caregiver, he/she would not be able to come to camp otherwise. Your role is to ensure that the camper, which you are accompanying, gets the most out of the program.

Each caregiver's duties at camp will be different, because each camper is different. As a general rule, your role is to provide whatever assistance your camper needs. Examples are: medication administration, personal care assistance (i.e.: toileting, bathing, grooming, dressing, & eating) mobility around campus and off campus, etc.

A legal guardian caregiver's role is the same as a caregiver with the additional responsibility of making any and all decisions, medical or otherwise, for their camper. A caregiver should be with their camper at all times. If campers leave Camp Dogwood, caregivers must accompany them (i.e.: shopping, bowling, etc.) Caregivers will be assigned a room with their camper. If you have any questions about your responsibilities versus counselor/staff responsibilities, please ask us.

Caregivers are not responsible for meal service. This is provided by the staff. A caregiver is not responsible for doing anything for their camper that the housekeeping staff would do for any other campers. For example, changing and laundering of soiled bed linens, trash disposal, or any maintenance of the camper's living quarters.

Many people who attend as caregivers are friends or family of the campers, and find their week here very enjoyable. The opportunity to spend quality one-on-one time with your friend or family member is a valuable one. The Lions motto is "We Serve". This sentiment is integral to our program and we hope you will take it to heart when you accompany a camper to Camp Dogwood. We hope you will enjoy your stay at with us and return again and again.

Caregivers are required to be with the camper at all times. This means fieldtrips, boat rides, etc.

Caregivers should not require mobility assistance from our Camp Staff.
